1995 POSTDOCTORAL RESEARCH ASSOCIATES PROGRAM

Up to ten associate positions will be awarded by the American Society for Microbiology for full-time research on infectious diseases which cause significant public health problems. Associates will perform research in residence at the National Center for Infectious Diseases (NCID) which is headquartered at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) in Atlanta, GA. In addition to Atlanta, NCID operates laboratories in Ft. Collins, CO, Anchorage, AK, and San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Eligible fields of study include: Bacterial and Mycotic Diseases, Viral and Rickettsial Infections, Nosocomial Infections, HIV/AIDS, Vector-borne Infectious Diseases, Sexually Transmitted Diseases, and Parasitic Diseases.

The associate positions are limited to individuals who either earned their doctorate degree (Ph.D., Sc.D., M.D., D.V.M., or D.D.S.) or have completed a primary residency after May 1992. Exceptions may be made for those with more experience. All qualified applicants are eligible to apply. While citizens of other countries who have a full command of the English language will be considered, preference will be given to qualified U.S. citizens and permanent residents. Qualified applicants will receive consideration without regard to race, creed, color, age, sex, or national origin. Diversity among associates is encouraged. The program provides an annual stipend ranging from $29,000 to $33,000 with an outstanding medical benefits package and up to $2,000 for professional development.

The application deadline is December 1, 1994. The Postdoctoral Research Program is administered by the American Society for Microbiology. All inquiries regarding this program should be addressed to: Coordinator, Postdoctoral Research Program, American Society for Microbiology, 1325 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005; Fax (202) 942-9329.
